Look forward to the discussion framed by Laszlo's already helpful facts.

Laszlo-

One additional piece of data to get would be the promotion budgets of comparables, not just merit budgets, as [REDACTED] we have seen in promotion situations was one point of discussion.

I can defer until a thoughtful discussion at this point with our colleagues on Monday if I must. If there is disagreement here we should drive to closure properly.

Ideally we would wait, but we start salary planning on 10/30, we are doing Director promo salary planning now, and Product has actually completed the salary planning for their team. -- Laszlo

Laszlo,

I think we should have this debate and information as part of your functional review in the coming weeks, rather than this e-mail process. Alternatively, we could add it to a Monday agenda in the coming weeks.

In all cases, the questions raised and your analyses are useful as part of planning process to ensure we stay competitive, but not overly generous.

I look forward to your recommendations as part of a total conversations in the coming weeks.
